The first game was based on the first two seasons of the series; while Vilgax Attacks is based on the third and final season of the series. October 2009. Plot When Vilgax invades Earth using projectNe void (which beams Null Void prisoners on Earth), Ben, Gwen, and Kevin, snap into action to defend their hometown of Bellwood from attacks. Ben parted with Vilgax's servant Psyphone, who revives Mr Smoothy's billboard to attack Ben. Ben eventually uses most of his Omnitrix aliens to defeat him, but ultimately exhausts the watch's power as a result. Azmuth, creator of Omnitrix, appears and tells him that Omnitrix must recharge before he can access all his aliens again, leaving Ben with only Swampfire, Humungousaur, Cannonbolt, Big Chill, and Spidermonkey. Gwen and Kevin appear, along with Professor Paradox, who teleports the gang back to the past to stop Vilgax's plan before it happens. Paradox gives the trio a message from Grandpa Max directing them to the planet Vulpin, home of Wildmutt, one of Ben's original aliens. Ben's calling on galvanic mechomorphic ship to help them. On Vulpin, another report from Grandpa Max reveals that Vilgax is using the planet's refinery to create a piece of alien tech for an unknown purpose. Ben is heading to the refinery alone; along the way, he fights several of Vilgax's robots, some Vulpimancers, and a giant two-headed snake. When he gets to the refinery, he encounters the Vreedle brothers (Octagon and Rhomboid Vreedle) and defeats them, destroying alien technology and set fire to the refinery. He'll meet again with his teammates, who will learn about Vilgax's plan: find an energy core that will charge his Null Void projector and use it to re-orbit the Earth. In another message, Maxs directs the team to Terradino, Humungousaur's home planet. The group arrives at Terradino and learns that the next energy core is located in a nearby temple. Ben gets the Goop back and inside the temple, he ends up facing Charmcaster, who wants to avenge Ben for his actions against her uncle Hex. Eventually, Charmcaster is defeated, Ben destroys the energy core and temple begin to crumble. Ben meets Gwen and Kevin and finds out that Max has gone to Encephalonus IV, the home planet of Brainstorm, where Ben's old enemy is waiting for him. Upon arrival at Encephalonus IV, Ben gets brainstorm back, decided to find out who was waiting for him. He soon discovers that the villain is Darkstar, who is easily defeated. Ben destroys another energy core and reunites with Gwen and Kevin, and learns from max's other messages that the ultimate energy core is Anur Phaetos, the home world of Zs'Skayr (aka Ghostfreak), one of Ben's former enemies and aliens. However, Vilgax intercepts the message and dares Ben to face the dangers of Anur Phaetos if he manages to even find his way there, because Anur Phaetos is not a planet, but an alternative dimension. Luckily, Max sends Ben and Gwen's paternal anodite grandmother Verdona to help the team. Verdona teleports them to Anur Phaetos, but at the cost of their separation. Ben ends up facing Zs'Skayr and defeats him, destroying the energy core he was guarding and regaining the Echo Echo. Paradox takes the group back to their original dimension and informs them that Max lied when he said that Anur Phaetos had the last known energy core to bring down vilgax. He goes on to say that the mysterious being is on Chromastone's home planet, Mor' Otesi, and uses Taydenite to create an energy core that Vilgax can use to control The Earth. On Mor' Otesi, the gang learns that their old friend Cooper is being duped into creating a new energy core by an unknown villain, and Cooper redirects them to the research center where Taydenite worked on being held. Ben regains Chromastone to Omnitrix and sets off, while Gwen and Kevin go with Cooper to sneak in in a different way. When he gets to the lab, Ben finds out the leader is Albedo, who he can barely beat. After the destruction of Taydenite, Ben meets Gwen and Kevin, and Grandpa Max arrives to inform the team that there is another energy core, but that it's in the Void. The group then heads to where Max gives Ben the skeleton yo-yo key to transport to Null Void, warning him not to destroy the energy core there, but to use it to get back to its main dimension. Ben gets Jetray and head to Null Void, where he meets D'Void/Doctor Animo. Ben beats him and finds the final energy core, uses it to transport it back to the main dimension, where no time has passed. Ben also gives Max a picture of them and Gwen from behind in the summer when Ben first discovered Omnitrix at the age of ten. The group returns home to discover that Vilgax is still invading Earth, but its Null Void projector is weaker because Ben destroyed all the known energy cores that exist to save the one from the null void itself. With Max, Gwen and Kevin holding back Vilgax's minions, Ben is making his way Bellwood until he is eventually transferred to Vilgax's ship, where he will meet Vilgax himself. After beating him, Ben has the remaining energy core stolen from him by Psyphon, who tries to fire raw Null Void energy right at him up close. However, Paradox will appear and tell Ben that now is the right time. Ben then transforms into Alien X (he was going to do it at the beginning of the game, but Paradox advised him not to, because time wasn't right yet). Alien X then reverses the gun's power and sends Vilgax, his ship and Psyphon through the Null Void portal. Ben turns back to normal, and Azmuth appears, initially appearing to beg Ben for what he has done, but instead of congratulating him on his work. The game ends with the addition of a new feature to Omnitrix, to which an excited Ben replies: Oh yes! Now it's a really heroic time! Gameplay For the most part, gameplay is a balance of action and puzzle-solving that revolves around the skills of ben's alien forms. For example, Ben may need to change into his Humungousaur form to break through making ors, or use his Swampfire form to ignite flammable substances. Each form has a different combination with a special attacks that he can perform, and Ben can unlock new abilities by defeating enemies and collecting glowing energy balls. However, using the innate ability of the form diverts energy from the Omnitrix Ben meter, preventing them from constantly using it until the meter can recharge.
